Orientation Ceremony of Summer Entrepreneurship Camp

June 12, 2019 Wednesday marked the beginning of our most awaited camp, and it was spectacular as we had hoped to make it for you.

With our Summer Entrepreneurship Camp's orientation, we started onto a new journey with our 50+ little ones, and we couldn't have asked for a better start. The children were full of energy as ever, even more so after our orientation session on what the Summer Camp would be offering within the next 10 days. But we didn't just stop with the kids: their parents, too, had a session with our very own CED Director, Dr. Shahid Qureshi, detailing them about how their kids' future will be shaped.

Following the cake cutting ceremony, we further boosted the energetic atmosphere by introducing activities like tower building, which gave the kids a taste of what it's like to work in teams. Furthermore, with our Arduino session, first of many more to come, the children got acquainted with the concept of interfacing, and learned the technology behind their everyday fan's working.

Ending the session on a high note with the kids interacting by way of cross introductions, the day finally came to an exhausting, but fun-filled end. And with that, we genuinely hope that we delivered all the fun we had promised, and continue to do so for the next 10 days!
